III. DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITY

A. OVERVIEW

The development is a planned residential community known as “The Villages of Dorchester,” consisting of 246.5 acres of land in Anne Arundel County and is located approximately three miles southwest of the Baltimore Washington International Airport. According to the Private Placement Memorandum, the development has been approved by the county as a Planned Unit Development (“PUD”) consisting of 13 parcels, and is limited to the development of a total of 784 residential units, of which up to 246 units may be single-family detached units and the remaining units may be attached residential units, but not apartments. At the time of bond issuance, the county had given the necessary subdivision approvals for 223 single family lots on Parcels F (95 lots), G (33 lots) and L (95 lots), and as of December 1, 2003, homeowners had settled on forty-six of the lots subdivided from Parcel L.

According to the Private Placement Memorandum, NVR, Inc. is the sole contract purchaser of all of the lots from the owner. NVR, Inc. constructs and sells homes under the Ryan Homes, NVHomes and Fox Ridge trade names. The Villages of Dorchester development is being constructed by Ryan Homes and NVHomes.

B. GOVERNMENTAL APPROVALS

According to the Private Placement Memorandum, all of the parcels that were subdivided into lots were zoned for single-family detached dwellings and townhouse dwellings. No additional zoning exactions, variances or approvals of conditional uses were required for the use of the property. However, until final subdivision approval was given and the subdivision plat was recorded, the county could have changed or modified the zoning requirements.

According to the Private Placement Memorandum, the first step for the approval of a subdivision plat was approval of a Sketch Plan, which outlined the proposed development. The next step was Final Plan Approval, which contained a more detailed plan of the development rights. At the time of bond issuance, the owner expected that Final Plan Approval would be obtained on a parcel-by-parcel basis. As the last step, after Final Plan Approval and approval for all of the other plans, a subdivision plat was approved for record, thereby entitling the owner to sell subdivided lots. At the time of bond issuance, a total of 223 lots on Parcels F, G and L had been approved for subdivision and plat recording. The future development of the property was dependent on subdivision approval of the remaining parcels.

Table III-1 on the following page shows, on a parcel-by-parcel basis, the plan approvals received to date. As of June 30, 2008, the developer reports that all required approvals for the district have been obtained from the required issuing entities.

According to the Private Placement Memorandum, the property is being developed over several years, on a parcel-by-parcel basis. For the purposes of planning the development of the property, the developer expected that the property would be developed in two basic phases, the first phase consisting of Parcels F, G, K, L and M and the second phase consisting of Parcels A, B, C, D, E, H, I and J.

Table III-2 on the following page provides the status of parcel development including classification, number of anticipated units, number of units platted, and the number of building permits issued as provided by the developer as of June 30, 2008. As of June 30, 2008, the developer reports that all 784 lots have been platted. As of the Date of Classification (April 1, 2008), the developer reports that building permits have been issued for 236 single-family units and 462 townhouse units. As a result, 698 units have been classified as developed for special tax purposes for fiscal year 2008-2009.
